Europe must play its part in rescuing the MDGs

A group of powerful women from the front-line in the fight against poverty have appealed to European leaders to ensure health and education for all people by rescuing the Millennium Development Goals. Testifying at the European Parliament, the 'W8' - a group brought together by Oxfam from Mali, Georgia, Thailand, Nicaragua, The Philippines, Bangladesh, Malawi and India - backed Oxfam's call for Europe to adopt a "rescue package" to get the MDGs back on track.
